ROCK ME TO SLEEP, MOTHER.

BY FLORENCE PERCY.

Backward, turn backward, oh, Time, in your flight,
Make me a child again just for to-night!
Mother, come back from the echoless shore,
Take me again to your heart as of yore—
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair—
Over my slumber your loving watch keep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Backward, flow backward, oh, tide of the years!
I am so weary of toil and tears—
Toil without recompense—tears all in vain—
Take them and give me my childhood again!
I have grown weary of dust and decay,
Weary of flinging my soul wealth away—
Weary of sowing for others to reap:—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue,
Mother, oh, mother, my heart calls for you!
Many a summer the grass has grown green,
Blossomed and faded, our faces between—
Yet with strong yearnings and passionate pain,
Long I to-night for your presence again:
Come from the silence so long and so deep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Over my heart, in the days that are flown,
No love like mother-love ever has shone—
No other worship abides and endures
Faithful, unselfish and patient like yours;
None like mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul and the world weary brain;
Slumber's soft calms o'er my heavy lids creep,
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Come, let your brown hair, just lighted with gold,
Fall on your shoulders again as of old;
Let it drop over my forehead to-night,
Shading my faint eyes away from the light—
For with its sunny edged shadows once more
Haply will throng the sweet visions of yore.
Lovingly, softly its bright billows sweep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Mother, dear mother! the years have been long
Since I have slept to your lullaby song;
Sing, then, and unto my soul it shall seem
Womanhood's years have been only a dream.
Clasped to your heart in a loving embrace,
With your light lashes just sweeping my face,
Never, hereafter, to wake or to weep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

LETTER FROM IRELAND.

Correspondence of the Altoona Tribune.

DUBLIN CITY, IRELAND.
September 3rd, 1860.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—This morning, I again sit me down to address another letter for your valuable paper. I dated this letter at Dublin but I may finish writing it in Belfast, for the time from noon until the train leaves is too short, and I dare not finish my letter, unless I do justice to all the "sights," and they are many. I secured a guide (an old man to whom I gave half a crown for his services) 8 hours yesterday and 2 hours this morning. But I will not give you as minute a description of Dublin as I received, but only the history of the principal objects of this the principal city of Ireland. Dublin is situated on the banks of the River Liffey, which, running from West to East, divides the City into two nearly equal parts. After leaving the town the river expands into a noble bay, which is guarded on the one side by Killiney hill, near Kingstown, and on the other by the hill of Houth. The river is navigable as far as Carlisle Bridge, in the centre of the City, but the heavier vessels seldom pass above the Custom House. Well for the sights—and the first is the Bank of Ireland. This building is situated in College Green and was formerly used as the Parliament House, and occupies the site of a building which was begun early in the Seventeenth Century by Sir G. Carey. Originally intended for an hospital, it became successively the seat of justice and a mansion. The present building was commenced in 1729 and completed in 1787, costing altogether $45,000. The building is somewhat semicircular in shape, with a beautiful Colonade of Ionic columns facing College Green, and portico in the centre, in the tympanum of which is placed the Royal Arms, appropriately surmounted by emblematical figures of Hibernia, Commerce and Fidelity. The entrance to the former House of Lords was by a portico on the eastern side, the Columns presenting the anomally of the Corinthian order. The figures here are Fortitude, Liberty and Justice. The western entrance, like the Colonade, is in the Ionic style of architecture. The old House of Commons is now used as the Tellers office. The House of Lords remains unaltered, save the site of the throne is now occupied by a statute of King George the III. The chairs are in their places, the long table in the centre and the old tapestry still hanging on the walls. This has on the left a representation of King William crossing the Boyne with poor Schowberg expiring almost under his horses feet; and on the right the siege of Derry. Both pieces of needle-work are in excellent preservation. Directly opposite the Bank of Ireland is Trinity College. This is a very fine building; I went through it, but shall only speak of the museum belonging to it. The collection is small but very creditable to all concerned. The skeletons of the ancient Elk of Ireland, which have been dug up out of the bogs of various parts of the country, are truly a curiosity; the series comprises two males and a female, together with a group of six heads of Antlers of various ages, from two years old to the adult size. This collection is unique. Another collection of value to the College student is a series of human skulls, geographically arranged, intended to convey at a glance the difference of cranial dovelopment incidental to different countries. The collection of Irish birds is very fine, the specimens being in a good condition, and the series nearly complete. Among them may be observed with interest the Golden Eagle, Errie or White Tailed Eagle, the Spotted Eagle, and a Vulture, all shot in the South of Ireland. In the Library room I was handed a book, called "A Latin copy of the Gospel," known as the Book of Kells, and attributed to Saint Columbia, which was written 1300 years ago.

I was next taken into the Castle of Dublin, which is by no means an imposing structure.—We next went into the Viceregal Chapel which is beautiful in the extreme. The Viceregal apartments are easily found. You enter under a Doric Colonade, and by the grand staircase into the presence chamber, an ornamented hall containing the throne of the representative monarchy, (in which I sat) which, as well as the hangings, is richly embroidered with gold.—We went through St. Patrick's Hall—the Council Chamber and the private Drawing Room, which contains the most magnificent furniture, costly mirrors and marble tables. I was next shown the Christ's Church Cathedral, or Church of the Holy Trinity, which was built in 1038—and about which I took copious notes, but will give them at another time; also the Cathedral of St. Patrick, the Post Office, Custom House, the Four Courts and the Phœnix Park. But now we will go to see Nelson's Monument, which is in Sackville St. It is a tall fluted column 121 feet high (exclusive of the statute,) and stands close to the Post Office. It is of granite, consisting of a pedestal 30 feet high bearing the names and dates of four of the heroes' victories. The pillar rises above 70 feet, bearing on a Doric capital, a second pedestal on which the statute rests—it cost $34,280. The statute which stands 13 feet in height, is a beautiful specimen of art, and is from the Studio of a native Sculpter, Thomas Kirk. On a fine clear day such as we have now, if you ascend to the safely railed summit as I did, you have a most extensive and beautiful as well as delightful prospect; embracing a panoramma view of the city and surrounding country—from the Mowme Mountains in the County Downe on the North, to the Wicklow Mountains on the South, the plains of Meath and Kildarr in the West, parted by the Dublin Hills and Dublin Bay, and a wide expanse of sea to the Eastward. But we must not pass unnoticed the Zoological Gardens in the Phœnix Park—some of the animals are living and some are dead, yet of the latter there are very few; I saw wolves, such as formerly infested Ireland, bears, leopards, pumas, jaguars, hyenas, bisons, llamas, and various species of deer, kept here, together with an assemblage of those amusing little gentry, the monkey. I observed a large cage containing a whole colony of white tailed eagles, and a number of other birds, but I saw no toads or snakes, "nary time." But I have but 15 minutes time to get to Belfast railway station, which is one mile distant, so I must be off—well I jump on to a jaunting car—and I get there just in time, I get my ticket, jump into the train, the whistle is blown, and we are off—and the first place of interest we came to is Malahide Castle, the fine baronical mansion of Lord Talbot de Malahide. The Castle is a large square building flanked by lofty circular towers. It was erected in the reign of Henry II. The Oak Chamber exhibits the most elaborate carving in oak and lighted with a pointed window of stained glass; close by is a Malahide Abbey—an interesting ruin of a church in the Gothic style, but we must be off we pass Swords and Lurk and stop at Drogheda. This town is situated on the fine river Boyne. The town was formerly walled in, and considerable portions of its walls, with two of its gates, still remaining as ruins. St. Lawrence's Gate, on the northern side of the river, is a perfect specimen, and the West Gate, on the southern or meath side, forms a more picturesque ruin, associated with Drogheda, are the histories of the memorable siege by Cromwell, and the "battle of the Boyne." We leave Drogheda and Pars Tara—the history of which is most interesting, yet too lengthy for the present occasion. We next come to Dundalk which was the last town in Ireland, when a monarch was crowned, and resided in royal splendor. There are buildings in the town that were built in 1001. Newry is the next Station, though the town is situated a short distance from the Railroad, in the vale of the river Newry, with hills on either side. A gentleman who sat beside me in the car, and was familiar with the history of Newry, stated that Dean Swift described it in these words:—"High Church, low steeple, dirty streets, and proud people." The next stopping place is Armagh. In 444 St. Patrick fixed his see at Armagh, and here on the sight of the present Cathedral, sprung up one of the first Christian Churches in Ireland. Here he also founded the first College in the Kingdom, and while the rest of Europe was in darkness. Armagh was a shining light, which so increased in brilliancy, that in the time of the venerable Bede, eleven centuries ago, it attracted thither the nobility and gentry of Brittain for their education. The Danes destroyed the city and its Cathedral in the ninth century, and from this period to the twelfth century it was destroyed seventeen times, so that not many of the ancient buildings are left; but we now leave Armagh, and our next stopping place is Belfast. I should have stated that at Postadom we left the main line and came through the country, ten miles and a half distant, to get to Armagh. It cost nothing and we had time. Now we go back to and take cars for Belfast. We arrive at 5 p. m., and will remain two days, so I am now at the Plough Hotel in Belfast, and will start on Wednsday for Colerain and other points of Ireland.

I am yours truly,
W. R. BOYERS.

THE WALL OF CHINA.

This stupendous monument of human art and industry exceeds everything that we read of in ancient or modern history. The pyramids of Egypt are little when compared with a wall which is conducted over high mountains, some of which rise to the height of five thousand two hundred and twenty-five feet, across the deepest vales, over wide rivers by means of arches, and in many parts is doubled or trebled, to command important passes; at the distance of almost every hundred yards is a tower of massy bastion. The extent is computed at fifteen hundred miles, and is such enormous thickness that six horsemen may ride abreast upon it.

Sir George Staunton, who accompanied Lord Macartney in his embasy to China, considers this great barrier to have been erected at least two thousand years. Du Halds also says "this prodigious work was constructed two hundred and fifteen years before the birth of Christ, by the orders of the first emperor of the family of Tain, to protect three large provinces from the irruptions of the Tartars." One-third part of the able-bodied men of China were employed in constructing this wall, and the workmen were ordered, under pain of death, to place the materials of which it is composed so closely that the least entrance might not be Independent, not Neutral.

We find an article, under the above caption, in the last number of the Erie Dispatch, much of which so exactly expresses our sentiments and defines our position that we shall draw upon it in making up what follows.

By reference to the head of our paper, on first page, it will be seen that INDEPENDENT, not neutral, is our motto. Under it we have thus far published the Tribune, and under it we intend it shall be published so long as we conduct it. In our independence we acknowledge no fealty to party or sect—bow not at the beck or nod of political tricksters or political masters—cater not to the corrupt and vitiated tastes of parties, whose bigotry will not permit them to judge fairly of anything that pertains to the good of the country, provided it is not found in their commandments or political text book. We neither look to the right or left, but take a clear course, steering clear of politics generally, and only make suggestions and observations thereon when we know we are right, and can do our country a service—let those suggestions strike where they may, or let them offend either party—nevertheless they are honest and unbiassed sentiments, and we claim the privilege of expressing them. We have made favorable mention of members of all polical parties, who were candidates for office—of some because of the principles they advocated, which we believed would elevate the standard of our common weal; of others on local or personal grounds, when the office was not one wherein principles were involved, but where faithful men were required. In doing so we have pursued what seemed to us to be a consistent course, so that no party can reasonably charge us with being entirely hostile or particularly favorable to it. During the campaign which is now about closing, we have, on account of the high state of feeling, referred but seldom to politics, and when we did so our remarks were general, yet some whose eyes are covered with the film of political prejudice, and whose zeal in their cause, right or wrong, will not permit them to view the case dispassionately and with discrimination, have took exceptions to our course and say that because we are neutral we should not interfere with politics. Were we a professed neutral organ such proceedure might be proper; but being an independent organ, we will not suffer our independence to be curtailed because we may differ, as is natural, with some of our friends. We claim that we have as much right to express our preference in politics and give our opinions as any men that breathe or claim to be freemen. We are not slaves whose tongues are tied, who have Hearts and minds and yet dare not give utterance to our opinions or express our sentiments. And in uttering them we ask no man to give them credence unless he has a heart and mind that beats in unison therewith—we ask no man to act upon our suggestions unless he is satisfied that we are right, and that it is for the good of the country, the maintenance of the laws and the support of the constitution. Subscribers with whom we may differ should treat us as charitably as they do other men, or as other men do them. We have always done that which we thought best, and if we have erred in our judgment, it is human—and no man of judgment or highmindedness would be guilty of finding fault with us for doing that which every man does, express the honest convictions of his heart—defend the right—denounce the wrong. We wish it distinctly understood that these are our sentiments on the subject of independence, and we claim that we have a right to speak without being called to task by those who differ in opinion with us. We ask none to follow our advice unless they believe what we say, and about this they can do as they please, as we do, and be as independent as we are.

AN ALARMING RUMOR.—Under this head, the Pittsburgh Dispatch says it is rumored that Col. Curtin has signified his intention to rebuke indecent haste in getting up petitions for appointments, and that those who have been most busy, in advance of his inauguration, will be least favorably regarded. We give the rumor for what it may be worth, but hope that there may be few to disgrace themselves by "the wild hunt after office" which so generally mars the triumph of parties in this country. Let it be the people's resolve to secure good officials and servants—not to reward that partisanship which cares nothing for principle and much for self. Let him be considered the truest friend of Freedom who asks nothing for himself—sets up no claims for party service. Should Col. Curtin inaugurate the reform above indicated, he would do a good thing for all time to come; and although he might incur the displeasure of a few brawling politicians, he would be the more respected by those whose good opinions are worth having. We hope the rumor may prove correct.

☞ The report that Col. Curtin, Governor elect, died on Saturday last, was not correct.

ROBBERY OF ADAMS' EXPRESS.—Recently a package of money to the amount of $9,445 was forwarded by Adams' Express from Baltimore to Hagerstown. When the package arrived it was found that $8,000, in notes, had been abstracted and their place filled with strips of paper. It was suspected that the robbery had taken place at Harrisburg, where the money had lain over Sunday. Immediately after the robbery an investigation was made, and suspicion pointed to a young man named Simmons, a messenger in the employ of the company, unwilling to make a direct charge, the officers laid a trap for him.—This they were fortunately enabled to do in consequence of all the notes taken having a peculiar mark upon them. They gave notice at all business places of this fact, and finally one of the notes was deposited at one of the banks by the keeper of a lager beer saloon.

This traced the robbery direct to young Simmons, who, when confronted by Col. Bingham, the President of the Company, acknowledged the crime. When asked what he had done with the money, he said that he had spent thirty dollars, had fifteen on hand, and had burned the rest in Wetzel's swamp. He told Col. Bingham where he had spent the money, and also took him to the place where he burned the balance, showed him the ashes and the fragments of notes, which fully satisfied the Colonel that what he said was true. He recovered the notes spent by Simmons, and had him committed to jail.

It is alleged, and generally believed, that Simmons is partially insane, and this belief is strengthened by the fact that he was once, for a time, confined in the State Lunatic Asylum.

The proof being made to the bank that the money has been destroyed, and the numbers of the notes having all been preserved by register, there will probably be a re-issue, and the company will lose very little in the end.

LETTER FROM IRELAND.

Correspondence of the Altoona Tribune.

COLERAIN, COUNTY ANTRIM, September 12, 1860.

When I finished my last letter I was in Belfast, now I write from Colerain. I proceed, at first, to give you a description of Belfast. Few towns have progressed so rapidly as Belfast.—It appears almost incredible that in the course of 30 years the population has increased threefold. Mr. Daviss, to whom I am under lasting obligations for information furnished, tells me that in 1821 the population was 37,000, and in 1851 it was 100,000. This great city, with all its houses and inhabitants, stands upon the territory of one proprietor, the Marquis of Donegal, to whom the whole town belongs and to whom every citizen pays tribute. The town is conveniently situated on the river Lagan, just before it flows into the elongated bay known as Belfast Lough. The Irish name of Belfast is expressive of the situation of the town. Beal-na-fursad signifying the "mouth of the ford."—The harbor is one of the finest in the Kingdom. Milton, who, though a great man, could not be charitable, spoke very disrespectfully of them for this liberality of spirit, styling them "blockish Presbyters" and "unhallowed priestlings." In 1660, as I learn from a plan bearing that date, the town contained but six streets. Perhaps the most remarkable fact in the industrial history of Belfast is, that no printing press was brought into the city before the year 1695, yet Belfast is the town wherein the first Bible ever published in Ireland, was printed, and where the oldest Irish newspaper, a copy of which I mailed you, was originally established. Nearly opposite the Post Office, in Rosemary street, stands the chapel of the first Presbyterian congregation. In Belfast there are 20 congregations of Presbyterians, 4 of Roman Catholics, 12 of Episcopalians, and various others, in all 52 churches and chapels. The Presbyterians, who are the largest body in Belfast, form a particular church, planned on the model of that of Scotland, and called the Presbyterian Church of Ireland or Ulster. This church was founded in the year 1642. The church of the first congregation is the finest belonging to the body. By a flight of twenty steps you reach a handsome portico, composed of ten elegant Doric columns, over which rises an elaborate balustrade. The internal decorations are quite in keeping with the external beauty of the building. The ceiling is completely covered with ornamental work in stucco, and the seats are polished mahogany. There are other buildings, as the Custom House, Post Office, St. Ann's Parish Church, Belfast Academy, Barrack and Workhouses, &c., descriptions of which I must omit.

The flax mills will naturally attract the attention of the American. They are situated in all parts of the town, and ready access can be obtained into most of them. That of Messrs. Mulhollands, situate in the Northern extremity of the town, is one of the most extensive in the Kingdom. The interminable hum of myriads of spindles, and the subdued sound of machinery, together with the light and airy appearance of the rooms and quiet and orderly bearing of the hands employed, appear at first sight to be a new feature in Ireland. This firm employ 1,000 hands, and the foreman told me that they generally have $500,000 worth of flax in the course of manipulation. To give an idea of the increase of the linen business, I will state what the gentleman above alluded to told me. In 1806, said he, there were 212 spindles in operation in Ireland. In 1852, in Ulster, Munster and Leister there were 500,000 spindles in operation. From the flax mills we went to Linen Hall, sometimes styled the White Linen Hall. It was built in 1715 and cost $50,000. The site was granted by the Earl of Donegal. It is built of brick, is quadrangular in shape and two stories in height. Well planted grounds surround the hall. I never was, before I entered this hall, completely surrounded with pure Irish linen, but here I was in linen of the most costly kind, for some single table cloths of which they asked £10 or $50. Of course I did not buy any of that kind.

I visited the Music Hall, St. George's Church, Queen's College, St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church, Museum, Botanical Gardens and many other places of interest, which made my stay of three days, in Belfast, exceedingly pleasant.

But we now start from Belfast further North. Leaving this busy town behind us, we soon find ourselves in the midst of the cultured meadows of the County Antrim. The way is, for a space of seven miles, by the side of Belfast Lough, sometimes called the bay of Carrickfergus, a fine sheet of water, about 12 miles long and 5 miles broad, measuring from Groomsport, in County Down, to Whitehead, on the Antrim side. Upon this Bay, but one ship, the "Speedwell," is known to have suffered. Presently we stop at Antrim, a small town on the Six Mile Water. Near Lough Neagh, in the vicinity, is a very complete round tower, standing nearly 93 feet high with a circumference of nearly 53 feet. From this place I walked through Antrim Castle and then visited Lough Neagh, the largest lake, not only in Ireland, but in the United Kingdom, and only exceeded in size by a few in Europe. It is 48 feet above the sea at low tides. It is a curious fact, that the greatest depth of this lake, yet ascertained, is 45 feet, so that any part of the bottom will be at least 3 feet above the level of the sea. Some tell me that the word "Neagh" is from, or for "Neach," which means wonderful, on account of its size or its gems which, tradition says, were gathered on its shores. Others say it is from "Neas," meaning a "sore," owing to the supposed healing properties of the water. Next to the healing are the petrefying properties of the water, about which such extravagent tales have been told.—Although many of these stories have been manufactured, the water does possess the power of petrefying. I was told that a petrefaction was found some years ago, in this lake, that weighed 700 pounds. It was entirely a stone without any wood in it. Some of the most beautiful specimens of petrefaction can be obtained from the peasantry for a mere trifle. In this lake is found the pollan or bright silver fish, which, in the season, is as common as herring in the cottages of the poor. Rev. Mr. Pattison showed me a book, containing a description of this lake, said to have been written A. D. 65:—"There is a Lake in Ulster and moche fysshe therin, whiche is XXX myles in lengthe and XV in brede. The River Ban runneth out of the Lake into the North Ocean, and men say that this Lake began in this manner," &c. The style and orthography is very ancient. Here I saw the first red hand. The parent legend is, that at some very remote period, a party from some unknown land sailed to Ireland for the purpose of conquering it. Nearing the Ulster coast, it was agreed that whoever should touch the land first should be Lord of it. One daring chief, seeing a probability of his losing the prize, deliberately cut off his left hand and threw it ashore before the other boat's crew could land, and thus having touched the soil first he claimed it, and from him sprung the O'Neills, the royal race of Ulster.

Leaving Lough Neagh and Antrim, we continue our railway ride to Ballymena. Not long after quitting Antrim the deer park of Shane's Castle is passed. I was told by a friend that there was a tomb stone near Shane's Castle, bearing this inscription:—"This vault was erected in 1666 by Shean Mac Phelin Mac Bryan Mac Shean O'Neill, Esq., as a burying place for himself and the family of Claudeboy." Wonder what person in Altoona would think of calling a son by a name as long as the above.

We pass through Ballymena and Ballymony and stop at Coleraine. The latter place has long been noted for the excellence and fineness of its linens, called "Coleraines," and for its salmon fisheries on the Bann, and I think a very proper addition might be added, viz: for the abundance of fleas. I was there several days and was never so pestered before.

My next visit will be to the Giant's Causeway. You can go by Portrush or Bushmills. I prefer paying a shilling and going through Priestland to Bushmills. Oh! what a lovely country.—Here I passed through the home of my wife's grand-parents, and plucked flowers by the road side. We passed Ballytabor and reached Bushmills in time for dinner. Bushmills is an old town, deriving its name from the river Bushon which it is placed, and an old water mill now in ruins. It is a favorite resort for anglers on account of the abundance of salmon in the Bush. Any American desiring to practice the gentle art will get much valuable information from my good friends, Archibald McKinney and Arthur McGlaughlin, than whom more hospitable and respectable gentlemen do not reside in the United Kingdom. I will long remember the kindness shown me by the people of Bushmills. Innumerable were the questions asked me about America, but I answered them all. Many were the sobs and tears from those who would go, if they could, to enjoy the rich boon belonging only to Americans.

The houses are divided into three apartments, generally, sometimes more, viz: the dwelling, the cow house, the bairn and the pig house, all under one roof, with no floor save the earth, for wooden floors are very scarce. Rich people have stone flag floors, or tyle. Houses are all stone and the roofs are either covered with slate, or thatched with straw.

In my next I will give you a description of the Giant's Causeway, Dunleith Castle and carrick-a-Reed.

Yours, Respectfully;
W. R. BOYERS.

THE DISTRESS IN KANSAS.—Mr. Thaddius Hyatt, who has just returned from a tour of benevolent investigation at the seat of famine in Kansas, in his memorial to the President praying the withdrawal of the homestead of the settlers from the public sales ordered this fall, draws the following horrible picture of the condition of the people:

Thousands of once thrifty and prosperous American citizens are now perishing for want. Winter is upon them; clothing they are nearly bereft; food they have not to last them through the cold season that is approaching. Of over a hundered thousand people upon Kansas soil six months ago, at least one-fourth or one-third are left; of the remainder it is safe to say that forty thousand at this moment see nothing but exodus or starvation at the end of the 60 days now just before them; from ten to twenty thousand look with only despairing eyes upon November; thousands cannot subsist a month longer unaided; other thousands are living upon the little which their neighbors deprive themselves of to give them—neighbors equally unfortunate, and with whom starvation is merely a question of but a few days longer; while still other thousands, if not at once relieved must perish from hunger or the diseases that follow in its train.

MASSACRE OF EMIGRANTS.—The last arrival from Oregon, brings dates from Vancouver, a town on the Columbia river; to the 3d instant. H. Scheiber had just arrived at that place with news of the massacre by the Snake Indians of an entire emigrant train, consisting of forty-six persons, nineteen of whom were men and the balance women and children. The party was first attacked about fifty miles west of Salmon Falls on the 9th of September. This attack lasted about one hour. The Indians then withdrew and allowed the train to proceed five miles, when they again attacked the train.

This fight lasted two days and one night.—On the afternoon of the 10th the Indians had possession of the whole train with the exception of six men, who being mounted escaped. After travelling through the woods for nine days the six survivors were again attacked, and five of the party killed. Mr. Scheiber alone escaped by hiding in the bushes. After travelling seven days without food, he was found in an exhausted condition by some persons who took him to the Dalles. Of the nineteen males in the party, six were discharged soldiers from Fort Hall. Mr. Scheiber is the only survivor. He says that the six men who fled on horseback did not leave until the Indians had complete possession of the train, and from the screams of the women and children he was led to believe that the whole party was butchered.

☞ The Fall River Press tells the following: "Two young ladies fell equally and deeply in love with a gentleman who visited them very frequently. Being mutually acquainted with each other's passion, and being withal strong friends they romantically resolved to draw lots to decide which should have him. The fortunate one lost no time in making known to him the result of the drawing, and he then informed her that he was engaged to a third lady."

A MORAL QUESTION FOR LEGISLATORS.—If I go into a grocer's shop and steal two or three pieces of sugar, I am a thief. But if the grocer sells me a pound of sugar, and there are one or two ounces short, he merely sells things by false weight. I am imprisoned. The grocer is fined a few shillings, and escapes. I am guilty of but one theft. The grocer, it may be, is guilty of a thousand, for he robs every person to whom he sells goods with those false weights. By what strange anomaly of the law is the greater thief allowed to get off so much more cheaply than the lesser.

Fever and Ague.

A CASE OF EIGHT MONTHS' STANDING CURED BY BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS.

MICHAEL KELLY, No. 117 Seventh, near Grant street, Pittsburgh, says:

"Last July, while running on the river, on a cottonboat plying between Natchez and New Orleans, I was taken with Fever and Ague. For eight long months I suffered with this dreadful disease. The greater part of this time I was unable to work, and spent at least fifty dollars for different medicines, but found no permanent relief. Three weeks ago, one of my friends insisted upon my trying BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS, saying that a cure was guaranteed. After taking it for one week, I must say I was a sound man. I have been at work now for two weeks, and have had no return of the Chills or Fever whatever."

I certify that the above statement is true.

THOMAS ADAMS,
Diamond House, or R. Chester's Gothic Hall.

COMMON SENSE rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthrope philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing; let its merit be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage. The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician, concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen by the immense quantities of this medicine which are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific. Try the article and be satisfied.

Sold by all druggists in the world.

Read! Read! Read!

CAIRO, Ill., July 29th, 1860.

Messrs. JOHN WILCOX & CO.:—Your "Inpectine," or "Persian Fever Charm," has done wonders. I would not be without this "Inpectine" a single hour.—By constantly wearing I seem to be "ague proof."

Yours very truly, E. M. STOUT.

Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion.

Another Great Cure effected by Boerhave's Holland Bitters.

The wife of Pieter De Witte, living in Holland Town, Sheboygan county, Wisconsin, suffered much from Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion. She had been under a physician's care for some time, but the disease seemed to baffle even his skill. She purchased some HOLLAND BITTERS at our office, which has given tone to her stomach; her appetite and strength are returning, and we firmly believe that this is another great cure effected by your medicine.

We have still to record many wonderful cures effected by this remedy, but must wait another opportunity. One thing you can rely upon, what we have published are from persons much respected in our community, and are literally true. J. QUINTUS,

A Novelty in the Art World! PHOTOGRAPHY UPON PORCELAIN.

Secured by letters patent in the United States, England, France, and Belgium.

THE AMERICAN PHOTOGRAPHIC PORCELAIN COMPANY, No. 781 Broadway, New York, having secured their novel and ingenious invention by American and European patents, are fully prepared to execute all orders for presenting all the attractive and advantageous features of ordinary photographs, the brilliancy and finish of a water-color drawing, and a hitherto unattained quality of durability, by being rendered as imperishable as the natural properties of the articles upon which they are transferred.

Miniature Likenesses of Persons on China

As the patented process of the Company enables the reproduction of Photographs, not only on plain surfaces but upon such as are round or of any degree of irregularity—portraits can be reproduced with faithful accuracy, and delicacy of delineation, upon Porcelain wares of any description and dimension used as articles of luxury or of household utility, such as thereby securing faithful portraits and furnishing a unique and exquisite style of ornamentation of articles in domestic use.

In order to furnish facilities for the gratification of the popular taste, and to meet the wants of those patrons of the Fine Arts desirous of having Portraits on Porcelain, the Company have imported from Europe a collection of superior porcelain goods, manufactured to their own order, which they sell at cost prices.

As the American Company are owners of the patent right, and consequently the only persons authorized to use the process, they have determined, in order

To afford People in every section of the Union

an opportunity to possess

LOCAL ITEMS.

☞ We issue our paper a little in advance this week, in order to give ourselves time to put up a ruling machine and other improvements which we are adding to our establishment, after which we will be prepared to execute all kinds of Job Printing in the most approved style.

☞ Our readers will find an interesting dialogue, about large and small potatoes, on our fourth page. Read it. On our first and second pages will be found two letters from our foreign correspondent which will repay a perusal. We have still another on hand from him, which will prove more interesting than any yet published.

☞ Truly glad are we that the election will be over previous to another issue of our paper. Almost all our exchanges are now so packed with political matter, of which we have had a surfeit, that we can scarcely find an interesting item to clip. Even local items are scarce as hen teeth, or snow banks in July, and all because the dear people are engaged in saving the Union, which is not in danger. Should we be able to get up a column of local this week, out of the very littlle transpiring, we shall think we have done well.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.—The People's Party held a meeting in their Club Room, on Friday evening last, which was addressed by Wm. B. Kennedy, Esq., of Philadelphia. The "Wide-Awakes," had a "turn out" previous to the organization of the meeting. They were preceeded by the Altoona Brass Band.

The Democrats held a meeting in Lowther's Hall, on Tuesday evening, to make preparations for the election on Tuesday next.

YOUNG AMERICA.—One of the growing and enormous evils of our town is the rampant character of the boys. They are all aspiring to be men, before they have reached that period of life which admits of the slightest self control, or personal responsibility. Imitating the vicious habits of men, they drink, smoke, swear, and swagger after the manner of the most approved ruffianism. A gentle rebuke, even, is insulting to the dignity of these youngsters, and none are more ready to resent the remotest trenching upon their assumed and lofty perogatives.

LONG DRESSES.—Girls, don't wear your dresses quite so long at the lower end. It is none of our business, really, nor are we in any particular way interested in these matters; but everybody is talking about how ridiculous it is to sweep the streets, and "kick up a dust" generally, only for the sake of being fashionable.—We are no judge of what is best for you to do in regard to it; but—it is making a good deal of talk in the neighborhood—besides many of you need this superfluous material on the top about the neck.

RIOT.—Some time since the workmen at Bennington Furnace, on the mountain above this place, struck for higher wages, or for cash for their work, we are not certain which, and refused to go to work again, or let any others go to work in their places, unless their demands were complied with. The managers refused the demands of the workmen, consequently no work has been done for the last week. On Monday last the strike took the form of a riot—clubs, stones, pistols and different kinds of fire arms being called into requisition. A messenger was sent to Hollidaysburg for the Sheriff and a posse of men to arrest the rioters, and yesterday (Tuesday) morning the Juniata Rifles, Capt. Lloyd, and the Hollidaysburg Fencibles, Capt. Manier, were ordered, by Judge Taylor, to the seat of war. At the time we go to press we have not learned what they have accomplished in the way of a scrimmage with the rioters or in making arrest, but it is quite likely that by the time the military arrive the rioters will be non est, and the shanties wear the appearance of "banquet halls deserted."

THE NEW FALL BONNETS.—The New York Commercial Advertiser thus describes some of the "coming bonnets:"

Among the bonnets are to be some of the finest description of velvet that can be made. The ground work of one that we have seen is composed of white, uncut velvet, ornamented by fruit of gold and black color, with rich purple velvet leaves. The front trimmings are composed of moss roses and blonde, with strings of white and gold. Another style is composed of purple uncut velvet, ornamented with point lace, purple velvet grapes with gold stem, stars with connecting chains of gold, &c. Another is an evening bonnet of cherry-colored velvet and point lace, with maribout plumes, fastened with gold pins, the front trimmings are composed of maribout plumes and blonde. Still another is a chapeau de visite, and is made of purple and black velvet, with curling ostrich plumes; the front trimming composed of velvet flowers and blonde lace. Another is a very rich article, and is formed of pink uncut velvet and ostrich feathers, the latter looking as if they were carelessly thrown upon the bonnet and there rested. This style has ornaments. The front trimmings are moss roses and blonde. We need scarcely tell our lady readers that the "scoop" or "coal scuttle" hat has entirely vanished, and the style of the new fashions is a neat, small bonnet, suitable to almost any feathers, adding beauty to the beautiful, dignity to the queenlike, and improving the appearance of all.

☞ At the time we go to press we have no report of Court proceedings, but learn that Osborne, indicted for the murder of Meadville at Fostoria, last summer, has been found guilty of manslaughter. We have not heard the extent of his sentence.

☞ The attention of our readers is directed the advertisement of Messrs. Schomaker & Lang, wholesale grocers and commission merchants, 303 Liberty street, Pittsburg. We commend their house to our merchants desiring anything in their line.

THANKS.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—Permit me, through your columns, to express my thanks to the unknown friends, who, a few days since, sent to the parsonage of the M. E. Church, an acceptable and opportune present. Such an evidence of good will I highly prize, and would fain thank the donors personally, but since it is their desire to remain incog, it shall be my labor to prove that the present was not unworthily bestowed.

SAMUEL CREIGHTON.

Altoona, Oct. 30, 1860.

Council Proceedings.

A special meeting of Council held Oct. 22d, 1860. Present, A. A. Smyth, R. Greenwood, D. R. Miller, D. F. Laughman, J. A. McDowell and D. M. Green, Council; and Wm. C. M'Cormick, Chief Burgess.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

A bill was presented from Altoona Gas and Water Co., for gas consumed for use of Council to the 15th of Oct. 1860. On motion, an order was granted for the same.

A statement of James Kearney, contractor for building wall and excavating sewer, was presented and read, as follows, to-wit:

182 4-5 Perches of stone wall built @$1,40	$255,92
303 Yards excavation, @$,18	$54,36
	$310,28
By amount of order paid	$140,00
Balance due him	$170,28

On motion an order was granted in favor of Mr. Kearney, for the amount of balance in full.

On motion, Resolved, That the assessment for the opening and extension of Catharine street, in the Borough of Altoona, be left in the hands of John McClelland, Esq., for collection, and that the Justice give five days public notice before commencing suits.

On motion, Resolved, That the liens entered up against certain lots in the Borough for putting down pavements in front of the same, be left in the hands of John McClelland, Esq., for collection, and that he proceed forthwith to collect and pay over the amount to the Treasurer.

On motion, Council adjourned.

Extracts from the minutes.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ You cannot make velvet of sow's ears.

☞ Lawyers' pockets are lined with the willfulness of their clients.

☞ Ladies, please be sweet, but don't be too formal. Be roses, but don't be prim roses,

☞ An advertiser in one of the papers says he has a cottage to let containing eight rooms and an acre of land.

☞ Prentice thinks the political prospect is none the less dark from Pennsylvania's having raised the Curtin.

☞ In a committee of ladies, we have no doubt but whatever is voted on is always carried by a handsome majority.

☞ Udolpho Wolfe, of Schiedam Schnapps renown, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the VIIth District of New York.

☞ A Negress, speaking of her children, said of one who was lighter colored than the rest: "I nebber could bear dat 'ar brat, 'case he show dirt so easy."

☞ Suffering others to think for us, when Heaven has supplied us with reason and a conscience, for the express purpose of enabling us to think for ourselves, is the greatest fountain of all human error.

☞ There is a complaint that commits a fearful havoc in all commercial circles, called insolvency, the first decided symptom of which is a suit at law, with you for defendant, or plaintiff, it doesn't matter which.

☞ We know of a pretty young lady, who has a lover named Joy. She is impatient to have him "pop the question," and thinks of availing herself of the female privilege of leap-year. In that case she would "leap for Joy."

☞ The Bellefonte Fencibles, heretofore under the command of Col. Curtin, Governor elect, will attend the inauguration at Harrisburg, in January next, and have been assigned the position of private military escort, or bodyguard, on that occasion.

☞ A Good Custom.—If the wife of a Japanese doesn't suit him, he can send her back to her parents and try again. That is to say all wives are "warranted" in Japan. A good custom, which ought to be adopted in other countries.

☞ The editors of the Pittsburg Dispatch, Post and Chronicle have been sued for libel by the editor of the Gazette. Those Pittsburg editors have a fine time of it, suing and being sued. If Courts can give men characters, they will certainly soon be above suspicion.

☞ The Register and Recorder elect, of Centre county, treated the printers of Bellefonte, who favored his election, to an oyster supper, a few evenings since. It would be as little as all successful candidates for county offices could do, to follow the example of the Register and Recorder of Centre.

☞ The woods just now present a truly gorgeous aspect. No artist's brush can truthfully portray the beautiful commingling of every shade of every color, produced by the decay of the leaves on the forest trees. They have served the purpose of their growth, and, in the language of "Dow, Jr.," are "dying of age and the yellow jaundice."

☞ The wags have found out the way to settle the "irrepressible conflict" without coming to blows. One asserts that the best way to "fire a Southern heart" is to make love to a Southern belle, and another says the "cotton region" may be "precipitated into the revolution" by marrying her.—Louisville Journal

The foregoing theories read very well, but it would be impossible to reduce them to practice without a resort to arms.—National Intelligencer.

NOTICE.—All persons holding receipts for the payment of the full amount of their stock in the Altoona Gas and Water Company, are requested to present the same to the Treasurer on or before the 10th of November, 1860, and get their certificates of stock.

THE TRIBUNE FOR 1861.

PROSPECTUS.

The XXth Volume of the WEEKLY TRIBUNE commenced with the issue of Sept. 1. During the past year The Tribune has been obliged to devote quite a large proportion of its space to Politics, but we shall soon be able to forego Political discussion almost entirely, for months if not for years, and devote nearly all our columns to subjects of less intense, but more abiding, interest. Among these, we mean to pay especial attention to,

I. EDUCATION.—The whole subject of Education, both Popular and General, will be discussed in our columns throughout the year 1861, and we hope to elicit in that discussion some of the profoundest thinkers and the ablest instructors in our country. It is at once our hope and our resolve that the cause of Education shall receive an impetus from the excurtions of THE TRIBUNE in its behalf during the year 1861.

II. AGRICULTURE.—We have been compelled to restrict our elucidations of this great interest throughout 1860, and shall endeavor to atone therefor in 1861. Whatever discovery, deduction, demonstration is calculated to render the reward of labor devoted to cultivation more ample or more certain, shall receive prompt and full attention.

III. MANUFACTURES, &c.—We hail every invention or enterprise whereby American Capital and Labor are attracted to and advantageously employed in any department of Manufacturing or Mechanical Industry as a real contribution to the Public Weal, insuring ampler, steadier, more convenient, more remunerating markets to the Farmer, with fuller employment and better wages to the laborer. The progress of Mining, Iron-Making, Steel-Making, Cloth-Weaving, &c., &c., in our country and the world, shall be watched and reported by us with an earnest and active sympathy.

IV. FOREIGN AFFAIRS.—We employ the best correspondents in London, Paris, Turin, Berlin, and other European Capitals, to transmit us early and accurate advices of the great changes there silently but certainly preparing. In spite of the pressure of Domestic Politics, our News from the Old World is now varied and ample; but we shall have to render it more perfect during the eventful year just before us.

V. HOME NEWS.—We employ regular paid correspondents in California, at the Isthmus of Darien, in the Rocky Mountain Gold Region, and wherever else they seem requisite. From the more accessible portions of our own country, we derive our information mainly from the multifarious correspondents of the Associated Press, from our exchanges, and the occasional letters of intelligent friends. We aim to print the cheapest general newspaper, with the fullest and most authentic summary of useful intelligence, that is anywhere afforded. Hoping to "make each day a critic on the last," and print a better and better paper from year to year, as our means are steadily enlarged through the generous co-operation of our many well-wishers, we solicit, and shall labor to deserve, a continuance of publ. favor.

BŒRHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA,

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,

LIVER COMPLAINT,

WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND,

FEVER AND ACUE,

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered

STOMACH OR LIVER,

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Its reputation as boons produced its introduction here, the demand commencing with those of the Fatherland scattered over the face of this mighty country, many of whom brought with them and handed down the tradition of its value. It is now offered to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

READ CAREFULLY!

The Genuine highly concentrated Boerhave's Holland Bitters is put up in half-pint bottles only, and retailed at ONE DOLLAR per bottle, or six bottles for FIVE DOLLARS. The great demand for this truly celebrated Medicine has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing.

☞ Beware of Imposition. See that our name is on the label of every bottle you buy.

Sold by Druggists generally. It can be forwarded by Express to most points.

Salt River Passengers, Ho!

AS THE SUBSCRIBER WILL BE under the neces ity of leaving early in November for the head waters of Salt River, in the ship UNION, which will positively sail about that time; and knowing that many of my friends will go along and will want an outfit, I take this opportunity of informing them as well as all my old friends and customers, that I have just returned from the East, where I purchased a large stock of Goods, which I am now opening at my store in North Ward, to which I invite inspection. It is the

LARGEST AND HANDSOMEST

as well as the CHEAPEST lot of Goods brought to the town this fall. The reason why I say the CHEAPEST is obvious to every reflecting mind, because as the season advances (the merchants in the east say) prices decline, therefore I have an advantage of from 20 to 25 per cent. over those who purchased early in the season, and I can and will sell cheaper than any other house in the place. Purchasers will thus at once see the propriety of at least examining my stock before buying elsewhere. My stock consists of all the newest styles of

LADIES' DRESS GOODS

for the season, also a full assortment of

GROCERIES, BOOTS AND SHOES,

LADIES' SHAKER BONNETS,

I beg leave to call the attention of the citizens of the United States to the above Wines and Liquors, imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, whose name is familiar in every part of this country for the purity of his celebrated SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS. Mr. Wolfe, in his letter to me, speaking of the purity of his Wines and Liquors, says: "I will stake my reputation as a man, my standing as a merchant of thirty years' residence in the city of New York, that all the Brandy and Wines which I bottle are pure as imported, and of the best quality, and can be relied upon by every purchaser." Every bottle has the proprietor's name on the wax, and a fac simile of his signature of the certificate.—The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves. For sale at Retail by all Apothecaries and Grocers in Philadelphia.

GEORGE H. ASHTON, No. 532 Market St., Phila.
Sole Agent for Philadelphia.

Read the following from the New York Courier:

ENORMOUS BUSINESS FOR ONE NEW YORK MERCHANT.—We are happy to inform our fellow-citizens that there is one place in our city where the physician, apothecary, and country merchant, can go and purchase pure Wines and Liquors, as pure as imported, and of the best quality. We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business, although it will well repay any stranger or citizen to visit Udolpho Wolfe's extensive warehouse, Nos. 18, 20 and 22, Beaver street, and Nos. 17, 19 and 21, Markettfield street. His stock of Schnapps on hand ready for shipment could not have been less than thirty thousand cases; the Brandy, some ten thousand cases—Vintages of 1836 to 1856; and ten thousand cases of Madeira, Sherry and Port Wine, Scotch and Irish Whiskey, Jamaica and St. Croix Rum, some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars, filled with Brandy, Wine, &c., in casks, under Custom-House key, ready for bottling. Mr. Wolfe's sales of Schnapps last year amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dozen, and we hope in less than two years he may be equally successful with his Brandies and Wines.

His business merits the patronage of every lover of his species. Private families who wish pure Wines and Liquors for medical use should send their orders direct to Mr. Wolfe, until every Apothecary in the land make up their minds to discard the poisonous stuff from their shelves, and replace it with Wolfe's pure Wines and Liquors.

We understand that Mr. Wolfe, for the accommodation of small dealers in the country, puts up assorted cases of Wines and Liquors. Such a man, and such a merchant, should be sustained against his tens of thousands of opponents in the United States, who sell nothing but imitations, ruinous alike to human health and happiness.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW, AN EXPERIENCED NURSE AND FEMALE PHYSICIAN, presents to the attention of mothers her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums reducing all inflammation will allay pain and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it mothers. it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed, in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we do know," after ten years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in thousands of cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause.—We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world, and by G. W. Kessler and A. Roush, druggists, Altoona. Price 25 cents per bottle.

And testimonials, new and almost without number might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Professor Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 21st, 1859.

PROF. WOOD:—This will please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short, it is coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the scripture declaration—"the reward is to those that are kind to the widow and the fatherless?" Thy friend,

SUSANNAH KIRBY.

LIGONIER, Noble Co., Ind., Feb. 5th, 1859.

PROF. O. J. WOOD:—Dear Sir:—In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair, from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months, the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but, receiving from them no assurances that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Seven that time I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect.

Very respectfully, yours,

A. M. LATTA,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Depot, 444 Broadway, and sold by all dealers throughout the world.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds

"The Potatoes, they are small,
Over there, over there."—Old Song.

A GOOD DIALOGUE.

Mr. Smith—How is it, neighbor Jones, that your potatoes are so large and fine, while just over the fence, on similar soil, mine are as small as pullets' eggs, and precious few at that?

Mr. Jones—I manured this field with brains.

Mr. S.—Pshaw—All the Cincinnati hog-killers couldn't supply brains enough for this ten-acre field.

Mr. J.—I used human brains, of which there are plenty.

Mr. S.—Nonsense—Now don't make fun of me because I'm unlucky, and Providence has sent you a good crop.

Mr. J.—Providence helps those who help themselves. I used my own brains on this field.

Mr. S.—So did I mine, and they are as good as anybody's.

Mr. J.—Ah! There's the trouble. You know it all your self: I don't, and so I get all the outside help I can. I've been collecting other men's brains for my land for twenty years, and you see one result in this crop.

Mr. S.—Yes, I see the result, but I don't understand it.

Mr. J.—Well, when we began here 20 years ago, I thought myself a good farmer, but I believed others had good ideas, too, and I made it my business to get at their thoughts; some I found in agricultural books and papers, others I picked up at the County Fairs, by asking how the big things were raised, and often I've got a good hint from a neighbor.

Mr. S.—I've always been down on this "book farming," but your crops stagger me, they're real knock down arguments. I'm sick of the poor show I get for all my work, and am desperate enough to try any thing for improvement.

Mr. J.—I'll give you my experience; it may aid you. About nineteen years ago I heard that some men who had been brought up on farms had clubbed together, and one of them was going to publish a paper, which should consist mainly of accounts of how different farmers cultivated various crops, and such like matters. I sent for the paper and have done so every year since, and now I have nineteen large volumes, every page of which I have read, a little at a time, and the whole has not cost the produce of a single acre. Why I am astonished when I think over the ten thousand thoughts, and hints, and suggestions I have thus gathered. What a blank would be left in my head, if these thoughts were taken away.

Mr. S.—But does the practice of farmers on other kinds of soil and with a different climate, suit your wants?

Mr. J.—Why no, not exactly, perhaps. But then, every thought I get from another, starts a new thought in my own mind, and thus I am constantly improving my own skill and practice. You see, I get all the brains I can from other men's heads, and compost them well in my own head with a mixture of common sense, and then make the application to my fields. In that way, I have manured this crop of potatoes with plenty of brains. The editor called here last week on his Western tour among farmers, and seeing my good crops, he asked me to write out just how I have treated this field for years past, and I promised to do it as soon as my crops are gathered. He will probably print it, as he constantly prints all such practical matters, and perhaps a hundred thousand persons will read it; and though nobody else may do just as I do, many will get a new hint, and improve upon it. You may read it if you will.

Mr. S.—I would like to borrow your paper.

Mr. J.—Better take it yourself, for then you will be more likely to read it. You will find hundreds of plain talks about various kinds of crops, during a single year. One hint gave five bushels of corn on each acre of a large field in a single year.

Mr. S.—I can't afford to take it this year.

Mr. J.—You would think nothing of spending two cents a week for extra tobacco, or a cigar, or candy, and that's all the paper will cost. How little a week it costs to supply yourself and family with a large amount of information through any good paper.

Mr. S.—What are the politics of that paper?

Mr. J.—It doesn't touch politics. It is devoted to such subjects as Field and Garden crops, Animals, etc., and has, besides, a good deal about Woman's Work, which wife says is worth more than ten times the few pounds of butter it costs to pay for the paper. Then there is also a department for the young folks containing many things which please the children—not mere trashy stuff, such as is too often printed for them, but information that will have a good influence on them. I would sell a dozen bushels of wheat to have my young people get the good reading in that paper, but the average price of one bushel will pay for it a year. My John says he can pay for it easy with the eggs from two or three hens. If I was a mechanic or merchant and had had only a little garden, I should take the paper to tell me how to make the best use of the little plot; and if I had not a foot of land I should still want it for my wife and children.

Mr. S.—Does the editor know anything about farming?

Mr. J.—The editor who owns and publishes the paper was brought up on a farm, where he learned to work. He has studied all the books on farming, and experimented for years in the laboratory, and has besides, traveled all over the country to see what was doing. Then he has several associates—Farmers, Gardeners, and Housekeepers, who know what they write about, and among them all they do gather up a wonderful lot of information every year. The language, too, is so plain, so like talking with you, that I enjoy reading it. Then, too, every paper has engravings, which show one exactly how animals and plants, and implements, and household furniture look, much better than words could describe them. Among these are plans of buildings, that help one to plan others; and also many very fine large pictures, which are worth more than the cost of a whole volume.

Mr. S.—I suppose those engravings and descriptions are partly to help the editor sell implements or fertilizers.

Mr. J.—Not at all. The editor keeps nothing of the sort to sell, so that he may be perfectly free to praise or condemn anything, according as it may be valuable or worthless to his readers. You would laugh to see how he comes down on poor inventions, patent manures, and all kinds of humbugs.

Mr. S.—Is the paper adopted to our part of the country?

Mr. J.—Exactly. Soils and crops and climates differ, but the general principles of cultivation are the same everywhere, and here is the benefit of a paper published for the whole country. Every reader gets new ideas by learning what is done somewhere else; and further, I find that the paper has letters from every part of the country, and one or more associate editors in different sections, so that we get information from many regions and our own too. One thing I must mention particularly. The editor is constantly warning his readers against humbugs, telling how sharpers take the advantage of people. Why, I was just going to send a dollar for an article advertised in glowing colors, when I found it shown up as a humbug in this paper. But I can not stop to talk more now—I have such a lot of potatoes to harvest.

Mr. S.—I wish I had. I must try that paper a year, and see what there is in it. I can manage to save two cents a week.

Mr. J.—Never fear—If you don't find it pays, I'll buy your copies at cost, for my boys to keep.

Mr. S.—What did you say the paper is called?

Mr. J.—The American Agriculturalist. It is published in New York City. The editor, though one of our country farmers, and living in the country, finds he can publish it cheaper there, where printing, and paper, and mailing facilities are all convenient.

Mr. S.—How shall I get it?

Mr. J.—Simply inclose a dollar bill in a letter, giving your name, Post Office, County, and State plainly, and direct to ORANGE JUDD, 41 Park Row, New York City.

Mr. S.—When does a volume begin?

Mr. J.—The Twentieth volume begins Jan. 1st, but all who send in the dollar now, get the remaining numbers of this year, in addition to the whole of next year's. So if you subscribe now, you get fourteen months' papers. The proprietor also offers some valuable premiums to those who get up lists of subscribers. Send for the paper, and you may afterwards find it well worth while to make up a club. Some 1700 persons have got good premiums in this way during two years. Some of your German neighbors would join you, perhaps, for the Agriculturist is printed separately in German. I did intend to start a club myself, but I have so many potatoes to dig, I can not get the time. My sister-in-law in Iowa, got up a club last year and received a premium of a $50 Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine; an old acquaintance in Wisconsin got two or three good farming implements, and a young nephew of mine in Ohio got a beautiful copy of Webster's great Dictionary. These things only cost them a little time, showing the paper evenings and election day. Send in your subscription and the first paper will tell you all about the premiums. I forgot to tell you that every year the publisher, also, sends out to all his subscribers who want them a lot of choice garden and field seeds.

Mr. S.—What does he charge for them?

Mr. J.—Nothing! They are sent free, except the postage. They are of the best kind and one single parcel I got last year was worth more to me than the price of the paper.

Mr. S.—I'll try it a year, any way; if half what you say is true it will be a good investment.

Mr. J.—You'll find every word I have said true.

Mr. S.—I'll send this very night, while in the spirit of it.

Mr. J.—Do it, and you'll always thank me for this talk. Good day, I must hurry up digging my potatoes, I've such a lot of them—thanks to a hint in the Agriculturist.

Mr. S.—How did you say I should direct the letter containing the Dollar?

M. J.—To Orange Judd, 41 Park Row, New York City.

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR!!

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray.
FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.
FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections of the Scalp.
FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriently, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectally prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being.

ONLY 25 CENTS

per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

SHOE-FINDINGS.—JUST RECEIVED a good assortment of Shoe-Findings, of all descriptions, which we will sell at low prices for cash.
July 19, 1860. STEWART & THOMPSON.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE-PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.

THESE MEDICINES HAVE NOW been before the publicafor a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs; and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss or Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill Temper, Anxiety, Horror, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country these medicines will be found a safe, speedy and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—try them, be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—Kings Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are specially cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparation of Sarsaparilla.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires

There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.
